

Job Center of Wisconsin Release 2.1

Release 2.1 will be implemented this evening. Items included in tonight's release include:

- 'Applications' has been added to the statistics on the JCW homepage.

Job Center stats as of February 13, 2009:

- TOTAL JOB OPENINGS: 7504
- TOTAL RESUMES/APPLICATIONS: 61

- When a job seeker clicks on the 'Finish' button in the 'Finish/Activate' step, he navigates to the My Résumé /My Work Application summary screen.

Currently the job seeker remains on the 'Finish/Activate' step, which has confused some customers because they expect to see a message, or navigate to another page.

- The Job Search maps will be replaced with attractive new maps that utilize the JCW color scheme. Two samples:

Listed Within

- The 'Need help?' links on the tabs of the employer's job orders and site records have been moved so they appear on each tab.

Currently the 'Need help?' links appear above the tabs. When an employer clicks on the link, he often needs to scroll and read through more text than is necessary. By moving the links to the individual tabs, the employer sees just the help text that applies to that tab.

- The reference to 'JobNet' has been removed from the message that job seekers see when converting their JobNet 3.0 registration to JCW. The message now reads "Your registration has been located. Please update your registration."
- Some not-so-obvious changes have been made:
  - Customers using screen readers now have a 'Skip to Main Content' link.
  - Employers using the Firefox browser were receiving a System Error message when saving the Site tabs. The problem has been resolved.
  - Standardization of text, help pages, format, etc.
  - Modifications to the employer time-outs.

- The link to the JobNet Business System Manual has been removed from the menu tree. (It appeared between System Reports and WI Job Center Directory.)

'Need help?' links have been added on individual screens. Initially we are linking out to the existing manual, but within the next couple of weeks the manual will be eliminated and new help text will be available.
