

Training Opportunity

The ABC's of Labor Market Information and Using Labor Market Information Electronic Tools

The use Labor Market Information (LMI) is a vital component to career planning and the development of employment plans. Job seekers need to be aware of the wages paid, skills required and the employers who are hiring!

What: The day begins with an introduction to Labor Market Information (LMI) and how it can be incorporated into the development of employment plans. Participants will learn Labor Market Information terms, how to analyze information to identify wages paid for an occupation, skills required for an occupation, the employers that hire a particular occupation.

The majority of the day will be spent learning how to access and utilize electronic LMI (Labor Market Information) tools that include O*Net, WiscCareers and WORKnet. Participants will learn which tool will work best for them when developing an individual work plan.

The instructors will be Roger Gantzarow, Heather Thompson and Philip Anderson.
