Experience and Qualifications Field Updated

The new combined Experience and Qualifications text field was accidentally left at 500 characters. It was intended to be 1000 characters. We were planning to fix this tonight, but we've had some emails today about this being a problem, so the change was implemented within the last hour.

A small number of job orders were affected by the field size being 500 characters. Central office staff are restoring the data to the affected job orders. This will be completed by the close of business today.

We apologize for any inconvenience.
